Exercise 1 of 4 · 12 questions Write the correct relation.

WRITE THE ANSWER

HERE'S ONE DONE FOR YOU

My mother's daughter is my ____ -> sister. Work through it in two steps: first find the person (my mother's daughter), then ask what she is to me.

1) My mother's mother is my ____.

2) My father's father is my ____.

3) My mother's son is my ____.

4) My father's daughter is my ____.

5) My father's brother is my ____.

6) My mother's sister is my ____.

7) My father's mother is my ____.

8) My mother's father is my ____.

9) My uncle's son is my ____.

10) My aunt's daughter is my ____.

11) My brother's mother is my ____.

12) My sister's father is my ____.

Exercise 2 of 4 · 10 questions Write S for a small family and J for a joint family.

WRITE THE ANSWER

HERE'S ONE DONE FOR YOU

A joint family has more than two generations living together, or more than one married couple. A small family is usually parents and their children only. Count the generations rather than the people - four people can be a small family and four can be a joint one.

1) Ravi lives with his mother, father and one sister.

2) Meera lives with her parents, her grandparents and her uncle's family.

3) Arjun lives with his mother and his grandmother.

4) Sara lives with her parents, her brother, her grandparents and her aunt.

5) Nikhil lives with his father and his younger brother.

6) Divya lives with her parents, two uncles and their children.

7) Farah lives with her mother, father and grandmother.

8) Aman lives with his parents only.

9) Kiran lives with her grandparents, parents, aunt and three cousins.

10) Rohit lives with his mother and two sisters.

Exercise 3 of 4 · 8 questions Match the family member to how they often help at home.

MATCH THE PAIRS

HERE'S ONE DONE FOR YOU

There is more than one reasonable answer here, and that is deliberate. In your family the father may cook and the mother may go to work. Accept what is true at home and say so - the point is that everyone helps, not that a particular person does a particular job.

1) Grandmother

2) Elder sister

3) Father

4) Mother

5) Grandfather

6) Elder brother

7) Aunt

8) Uncle

Exercise 4 of 4 · 12 questions Write about your own family.

WRITE THE ANSWER

1) How many people live in your house?

2) Write the name of one person who helps you with your school work.

3) Write one thing you do to help at home.

4) Is your family a small family or a joint family?

5) Write the name of the oldest person in your family.

6) Who cooks the food at your home?

7) Write one thing you like doing with your family.

8) Write the name of one cousin.

9) Who takes you to school?

10) Write one way your family helps you when you are ill.

11) What is your favourite family festival?

12) Write one rule your family follows at home.

All done? How did that feel?

Colour in a star. Three stars means you could teach it to someone else.

3. Match the family member to how they often help at home.

- 1) Grandmother - tells stories and looks after the younger children
- 2) Elder sister - helps with homework
- 3) Father - goes to work and helps with the shopping
- 4) Mother - cooks the food and looks after the house
- 5) Grandfather - takes the children to the park and tells them about the past
- 6) Elder brother - walks the younger ones to school
- 7) Aunt - helps in the kitchen and at festivals
- 8) Uncle - helps with repairs around the house

4. Write about your own family.

1) Answers will differ for every child - there is no single correct answer to any question in this exercise.

WHILE YOUR CHILD WORKS

- The last exercise has no fixed answers on purpose. Mark it for effort and honesty rather than correctness.
- If your child's family does not look like the examples in exercise 2, say so plainly and use your own household as the example instead. Children notice when a worksheet assumes a family they do not have.
- Relations are easier said than written at this age. If the writing is the obstacle rather than the knowledge, let your child answer aloud and write it for them the first time round.
